

ACTIVE AUDIO MEETS PASSIVE ACOUSTICS TO ENSURE EXCELLENT LISTENING

Since 1958 devoted to offer the best audio and acoustic experiences ...

... through turnkey solutions combining a large portfolio of high quality products and systems of active and passive acoustics with proven engineering and installation capabilities

Founded in 1958 with a staff of 50 people and over €19m of annual turnover, Exhibo is headquartered near Milan, at the crossroads of the Italian business.

Since inception Exhibo has been enabling premium international manufacturers of audio, communications, ambient acoustic and soundproofing products and systems to enter the Italian market and rapidly raise to top market share positions.

The company's mission is about offering on the one side excellent listening through the combination of active audio and passive acoustics and, on the other side, enhanced quality of life by the means of noise elimination.

Relying on a number of facilities and systems to handle pre-sale, sale, delivery and installation operations with maximum effectiveness, reliability and speed, both in Italy and abroad, not only can the company act as an engineering consultancy firm, but also as the operative partner responsible for the whole implementation of the proposed solutions, up to their final acceptance. This is done by putting in charge an experienced project manager fully responsible for orchestrating the field works of specialised teams, so as to match strict requirement criteria both in technical and economic terms.

Thus, Exhibo's commitment is to support interior design, architecture and engineering studios as well as general contractors and system integrators to deliver effective solutions to customers ranging from retail, residential, hospitality, office spaces, embassies, exhibition areas, heavy industry and professional markets, including theatres, TV studios and night clubs.

Exhibo's extensive know-how in addition to the company's fanatic attention to detail and design sets it apart. Leveraging on it will ultimately lead to better listening experiences and enhanced quality of life as a new proposition to final customers.
